

The Role of a University in Nuclear Security

December 7, 2006, MSC Room 226, Texas A&M University

- 8:00 Welcome
Richard A. Chilcoat, Dean, George Bush School of Government and Public Service
- 8:15 Introductions
- 8:30 Overview of the University Role in Nuclear Security
William S. Charlton, Nuclear Security Science and Policy Institute
- 9:00 Panel: The University Role in Nuclear Security Research
Chair: Warren F. (Pete) Miller, NSSPI
Marvin L. Adams, Texas A&M University
Dori Ellis, Sandia National Laboratory
Donald Prosnitz, Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory
William Priedhorsky, Los Alamos National Laboratory
- 9:30 Discussion
- 10:30 Break
- 10:45 Panel: The University Role in Nuclear Security Education
Chair: William, S. Charlton, NSSPI
Eric Martens, Los Alamos National Laboratory
Joseph Cerami, Texas A&M University
Paul Nelson, Texas A&M University
- 11:15 Discussion
- 12:15 Lunch -- MSC Room 225
- 13:30 Panel: The University Role in Nuclear Security Service
Chair: David R. Boyle, NSSPI
Doug Newton, Department of Energy (NNSA)
Stephen Mladineo, Pacific Northwest National Laboratory
Todd Perry, Department of Energy (NNSA)
- 14:00 Discussion
- 15:00 Break
- 15:15 Workshop Synthesis and Wrap Up Activities
William S. Charlton, Nuclear Security Science and Policy Institute
- 15:45 Summary and Conclusions
William S. Charlton, Nuclear Security Science and Policy Institute